

A black and white photograph of a large, multi-story building with a prominent central tower and many windows, likely a government or institutional building. The building is viewed from a low angle, emphasizing its height. The sky is clear and light-colored. The building's facade is light-colored with dark window frames. The central tower is slightly taller than the main body of the building. There are several smaller towers or sections on either side of the main body. The building appears to be made of stone or concrete. The overall style is that of a mid-20th-century architectural photograph.
